HUMAN/KIND

Journal of Topical and Contemporary Japanese Short-forms and Art

Issue 1.5
May 2019

Founder/Chief Editor: Robin Anna Smith

Assistant Editors:
Christine Taylor
Shloka Shankar
Aparna Pathak

Cover Art: Blocks
by Shloka Shankar

Special thanks to Rich Schilling for his assistance with proofreading.
Contributors

Mike Andrelczyk  1, 9, 14, 16
Jo Balistreri       5, 6
Adam T. Bogar       14, 19
Sondra J. Byrnes     16, 21 (2)
Robyn Cairns        2, 24
Seth Copeland       3
Samar Ghose          7
Tia Haynes           12
Kyle Hemmings       8, 15
David J Kelly        19
Julie Bloss Kelsey  11
Lavana Kray          17
Antonietta Losito  25
John McManus         21
Elizabeth Moura     9
Ashish Narain       2
Michael O’Brien    2, 5, 16
Marianne Paul       22
Madhuri Pillai      14
Alexis Rotella      10
Rich Schilling      14
Olivier Schopfer    4, 13
Dan Schwerin        5, 21
Tiffany Shaw-Diaz   23
Debbie Strange      20
Alan Summers         18
Rp Verlaine         19
Lucy Whitehead      9 (2)
Biographies         26-29
going to the ocean

Mike Andrelczyk
letting thoughts fly the hollow bones of birds

- Robyn Cairns

original sin a geranium dreams of war

- Michael O'Brien

deepening winter
I turn to new gods

- Ashish Narain
Primer: Letter from a Credit Union

Simcha//henbit marches up every highway median//my mother's Persian lilac breathes soft as prayer in the backyard corner//right now I'm shunted away in concrete, brick, and uptown robbery stats//surrounded by other people’s money/Simcha when we ran in the woods behind my parent’s balsfaced/cherubic//we were looking for the meaning of these grim dreamers we would fatten into//expecting they would live up to some vague future ghost we formed of them//You know, that kind of anti-image//unreal yesterday through the click & shutter of an old ViewMaster//Stills of a forest fire//Old people withdraw cash from me and scowl/Bullet hole still in the carpet//That’s why a security guard with a Hogan stache and Brooklyn accent sits out in the lobby//Simcha, does a father’s love come with a dollar?//Say a prayer for me when I can’t//Which is now// at dusk you can almost see god’s beard

-Seth Copeland
Outside

Olivier Schopfer
I cough and then my grandmother's blood

-Michael O'Brien

a change in the tumor moon

-Dan Schwerin

petrichor the last snap of her jump rope

-Jo Balistreri
The Day Everything Changes

Bundled in blankets on a morning already hot, our mother lays you down in the bassinet, your red hair a surprise. Your tininess. She looks worried that I am even in the room, but father promised me a peek at my new brother before we leave for the hospital. I have scarlet fever and will spend the next two weeks away. I don’t know about the yellow sign yet, already on the door, that says Do not enter—scarlet fever. I am seven and do not understand the word quarantined means summer in an attic bedroom. Without visitors. Without seeing you.

I hear you cry.

When our mother slides my meal tray under the door, she usually talks to me for a while. She tells me your hair is still red, that you smile when our mother smiles. She tells me you sleep with your tiny hands curled into fists. When I ask why you cry so much, she explains that crying is the only way a baby says, I’m hungry. I need to be changed. Something hurts.

from the burn barrel
an ember smolders . . .
no one sees

-Jo Balistreri
spinning for a little something a small fortune mama when can they when can they

in ways not mine

I hit the turn signal

-Samar Ghose
girl & dog

sensing each other’s trauma

Kyle Hemmings
all night rain
something in me wants to say no

-Lucy Whitehead

yes i said no

-Elizabeth Moura

collection blocks—
a little boy learns to lie

-Lucy Whitehead

spring morning the wind telling the story of Pinocchio

-Mike Andrelczyk
Practice Practice Practice

Alexis Rotella
another night
spent barking
at the dog . . .
the delicate balance of coexistence

-Julie Bloss Kelsey
Renewal

As our children are off running around the indoor playground we have sought refuge in, I disclose to my friend that I have never gardened before. With our new house and spring approaching, I ask for some tips on what to do about all the empty beds in our backyard. After an appraising look, she replies, “Don’t buy anything you can easily kill.”

couples counseling
we circle back to the beginning

-Tia Haynes
Butterfly

Olivier Schopfer
polar vortex making it through another round of layoffs

-Rich Schilling

digital loop the ghost lizard eats the ghost moth

-Mike Andrelczyk

vacuuming fruit flies my karmic overload

-Madhuri Pillai

geiger counter trouble is easy to think about

-Adam T. Bogar*
hide & seek you keep finding me in the same darkness

hide & seek

Kyle Hemmings
in all the wrong places déjà vu

- Sondra J. Byrnes

four bocce players each holding a world before it began

- Mike Andrelczyk

earth seen from afar
in the back of the cupboard a forgotten pulse

- Michael O’Brien
myriad unknown paths under the snow –
our old feelings
rebuild their synapses

myriad

Lavana Kray
the uncertainty principle . . .

is something that haunts so many of us just starting out in life, hovering just beyond the periphery of parental constraints, where we fly or fall on a single smile, and . . .

blustering wind does she really love me dandelion?

after Heisenberg

-Alan Summers
since the beginning the light we crawl to

-Rp Verlaine

wavelengths the distance to the other

-Adam T. Bogar*

Doppler shifting through shades of grief a dark rainbow

-David J Kelly
off the grid

Debbie Strange
more friend requests the silhouettes of strangers on a bullet train

- John McManus

scratchy pajamas—
all the letters i owe

- Sondra J. Byrnes

written in stone
the morning
the glacier left you

- Dan Schwerin

thin ice—
we watch each other for lapses

- Sondra J. Byrnes
synapses...
memory to memory
the leap of faith

synapses

Marianne Paul
(at family dinners I played the role of Very Nice Houseplant)

On paper, the difference between speaking with someone versus speaking to someone is quite superficial. Insignificant, perhaps. “Why even bother analyzing this?” you might ask. In terms of semantics, however, the difference between those two is as significant as crossing a pond versus navigating an ocean.

invisible
my sweat
in the Pacific

-Tiffany Shaw-Diaz
godwits

Robyn Cairns
Every day 270,000 trees end up in the toilet . . .

Since going green
it's an "eco-friendly choice" his constipation

-Antonietta Losito
Biographies

Mike Andrelczyk lives with his wife in Strasburg, PA. He is the author of The Iguana Green City & other poems (Ghost City Press, 2018). Find more work at neutralspaces.co/mikeandrelczyk.

Jo Balistreri has three books of poetry, the first two by Bellowing Ark Press, the third by Future Cycle Press and a chapbook by Tiger’s Eye Press. In 2014, she began studying haiku and over time found her joy in Japanese forms. It began by changing her life and now it is her life.

Adam T. Bogar is a Hungarian translator and independent scholar living in Folkestone, UK. He is a member of the Kurt Vonnegut Society, the Milton Society of America and the British Haiku Society. His website (atbogar.wordpress.com) contains an updated list of publications. Adam’s haiku in this issue are found haiku, all excerpted from The Feynman Lectures on Physics, Vol. III: Quantum Mechanics by Richard P. Feynman (The New Millennium Edition, Basic Bokos, 2010).

Sondra J. Byrnes primarily writes haiku. Her poetry has been published in Prune Juice, Frogpond, A Hundred Gourds, Ribbons, Modern Haiku, The Heron’s Nest, and Moongarlic, among others. Along with short form poetry, Byrnes is interested in ikebana and chanoyu. Byrnes is a retired law and business professor from the University of Notre Dame; she lives in Santa Fe, New Mexico. Twitter @SondraJByrnes.

Robyn Cairns is a Melbourne poet who writes poetry including; Modern English haiku, haiga, senryu, tanka, haibun, and free verse. Robyn’s short form poetry has been published in Australian and overseas poetry journals and she has had two chapbooks published by Ginninderra Press; In Transit 2016 and The Drifting 2016. Twitter: @robbiepoet.

Seth Copeland (he/him) is the founding editor of petrichor. His work is recent or forthcoming in Yes Poetry, Really System, SOFTBLOW, Hummingbird, The Birds We Piled Loosely, and Kestrel. He teaches in the OKC metro. @SethTCopeland petrichormag.com

Samar Ghose lives in Perth, Western Australia with his wife and two adult daughters. He is enamoured of the haiku genre and its related forms. He enjoys the appreciation of the art form via reading and occasionally writing. His work has been published in international online & print journals. Samar feels that haiku can live in both poetry and prose.
Tia Haynes has been a lover of Japanese short-form poetry since she discovered it two years ago. Haiku became her lifeline during postpartum mania and has continued to be a solace. Her work can be found in The Heron’s Nest, Frogpond, and Modern Haiku. Follow her at: www.adaliahaiku.com.

Kyle Hemmings lives in New Jersey, and has prose, poetry, and art work in various online and print publications. He loves street photography, French Impressionism, and obscure 60s garage bands. His latest collections of work are Split Brain (2016), Paper Girl and Other Tales (2017, formerly Phantasizer), and Amnesiacs of Summer (2019).

David J Kelly has a fascination with words and the music of language. He enjoys writing Japanese short forms and sometimes people enjoy reading them.

Julie Bloss Kelsey didn’t start writing haiku and tanka until after the birth of her third child in 2009. Since then, her work has appeared in a number of publications, including Frogpond, The Heron’s Nest, tinywords, and #FemkuMag. Connect with her on Twitter @MamaJoules.

Lavana Kray is from Iasi, Romania. She is passionate about photography and poetry and has won several awards, including the status of Master Haiga Artist, from the World Haiku Association. Her work has been published in many print and online journals. Currently she is the haiga editor for Cattails Blog: photohaikuforyou.blogspot.ro.

Antonietta Losito was born in Mottola, Italy, and has lived there all her life. She has a degree in philosophy. She has been writing senryu since 2016.

John McManus is an award-winning haiku poet from Carlisle, Cumbria, England. His haiku have been published all over the world, and his first collection of haiku Inside His Time Machine was published by Iron Press in 2016.

Elizabeth Moura lives in a converted factory and works with elders. She has had poetry, flash fiction or photographs published in The Heron’s Nest, Chrysanthemum, Atlas Poetica, Presence, Shamrock, Flash, Paragraph Planet, Flash Fiction Magazine, Occulum and O:JA&L.

Ashish Narain is an Economist by profession and a haiku poet by choice. His work has been published in online journals like Sonic Boom, Otata, Bones, Prune Juice, Modern Haiku, and Frogpond. He lives with his wife and two sons in Manila, Philippines.

Michael O’Brien is the author of As Adam (UP Literature), Big Nothing (Bones), The Anabasis of Man (Yavanika Press) et.al. His writing has been published widely in print and on the internet, and translated into other languages. You can follow him on twitter @michaelobrien22.
Marianne Paul is a Canadian poet, novelist and, recently, an amateur bookbinder. She has won the Vancouver Cherry Blossom Festival haiku contest and the inaugural Jane Reichhold Memorial Haiga Competition. Marianne posts her words and art on Instagram @ms.haiku, Twitter @mariannpaul and on her websites: www.mariannepaul.com and www.literarykayak.com.

Madhuri Pillai has a journalistic background, she discovered the Japanese genre of poetry in 2011. Her work has been published in major haiku and tanka journals. Madhuri lives in Melbourne. She is also an animal rights activist.

Alexis Rotella is a visual storyteller, wordsmith and licensed Acupuncturist in Arnold, Maryland.

Rich Schilling lives in Webster Groves, Missouri with his wife and three kids. He has been published in Mayfly, Modern Haiku, Is/let, Akitsu Quarterly, and numerous other journals.

Olivier Schopfer lives in Geneva, Switzerland. He likes to capture the moment in haiku and photography. His work has appeared in anthologies, and numerous online and print journals. In 2018, Scars Publications released his first poetry chapbook, In the Mirror: Concrete Haiku.

Dan Schwerin is a pastor appointed to a large United Methodist downtown congregation in the upper Midwest of the US where he facilitates the monthly meeting of Haiku Waukesha in Waukesha, WI. His first collection, ORS, received a Touchstone Award for distinguished books in 2015.

Tiffany Shaw-Diaz is an award-winning poet and artist living in Centerville, Ohio. To learn more about her, please visit: www.tiffanyshawdiaz.com. She can be found on Facebook (@tsdartist) and Instagram (@tiffanyshawdiaz).

Debbie Strange is an internationally published short form poet, haiga artist and photographer, whose creative passions bring her closer to the world and to herself. She maintains a publication and awards archive at debbiemstrange.blogspot.com, which also includes hundreds of haiga and reviews of her books. Twitter @Debbie_Strange.

Alan Summers (he/him/Alan) came from London but now lives in England’s South West. Dogs and cats like him and he likes them, oh, and birds, and Christmas with snow. Alan is co-founder of Call of the Page, with Karen Hoy. Website: www.callofthepage.org, Twitter @haikutec, @allabouthaiku, @CallOfThePage.

Rp Verlaine has a MFA in creative writing from City College and taught in NY schools for many years. Although he no longer teaches, he continues to write and do photography in NYC. Rp’s most recent poetry collection, Femme Fatales Movie Starlets & Rockers was released in 2018.

Lucy Whitehead (Essex, UK) Lucy’s haiku have been published in various international journals including Akitsu Quarterly, The Heron’s Nest, Frogpond, hedgerow, Blithe Spirit, Cattails, Otata, tinywords, and Under the Basho and appear in three anthologies including a hole in the light: The Red Moon Anthology of English-Language Haiku 2018. Her Twitter handle is @blueirispoetry.